THE TESTS APPLIED BY THE VIR-

Money Used to Learn Who Were and Who Wore Not Mercenary Legislators Also, to Cover a Little Harmless Betting But Nobedy Aware of Vulgar Bribery. WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.-The Pomeroy investigating committee resumed its session this morning. Mr. Thurman asked Mr. Simpson if the witness had come with the money. Mr. Simpson replied that Senator Guerin had arrived, but had sent the money by express, which would take two days longer to make the

to the fact that the session of Congress anda this week. The committee could not, and rught not to make up its mind upon the case antil all the testimony was in and had been care-fully considered. It was therefore absolutely secessary that not one moment of time should po lost.

Mr. Simpson said he had six more witnesses whom he wished to examine.

ONE OF POMEROY'S PROPOSITIONS.

W. Simpson was then examined by Mr. aghuysen. Frelinghuysen.

I am a member of the Kansas Senate. I met Pomeroy frequently during the canvass, perhaps every other day. In the night of the 28th of January Fomeroy made a proposition to help to sustain a delegate whom I was ustaining. He said if I would vote for him he would ake Laughlin, the delegate, off my hands. Laughlin ras kept here at Washington to look out for the intersets of the settlers on the Che okee neutral lands.

By Mr. Vickers—On the occasion in question I went to see Pomeroy in relation to a bill pending in Congress for the relief of the Cherokee settlers.

APPROACHED BY TWO OF POM'S AGENTS. Mr. W. M. Mathevey sworn:

I am a member of the Kansas Senate. I know Mr. W. Reynolds, who was at Topeke working for Pomercy Reynolds concerning York's vote. This was between five and site clock. Reynolds said the thing was all fixed, and wanted me to rote for Pomercy. I said I had voted and should vote for Judge Low. Reynolds said he could tell me something that would make me believe that Pomercy would be elected. He then said York would vote for him. I sked if he had been bought by a promise of office. Reynolds said, "Not by the promise of office, but he is urs, and will vote for Pomercy." On the same evening D. S. Kelly came to me and asked an interview at ny room. I went with him, and discussed the Senate has found to the property for Etc., "I laughed, in a said I thought Kelly kacke the what I thought a piece of property for Etc." I laughed, ind said I thought Kelly kacke me ubetter than to try our his matter.

By Mr. Simpson—Reynolds whispered when he said, 'York is ours," "Acc. To SELL.

Nor is ours," &c.

A MAN WHO HADN'T A CHANCE TO SELL.

Edward Sear y, a member of the lower House, testified that he knew nothing of the use of noney by Pomercy for the purpose of buying totes, and knew nothing of his own knowledge of the use of money by others for Pomercy. No noney or other valuable thing had been offered for his vote. A man whom he did not know had sked him whether he could use money in the hanvass, and on his asking the man if he was a letective he went away.

W. E. Guerin, a member of the Kansas Senate and Chairman of the Pomercy investigating sommittee, testified:

Lieut. Gov. Stoyer rave to me, as Chairman, $7,000.

committee, testified:
Lieut-Gov. Stover rave to me, as Chairman, $7,000, rhich was given to him by Col. York in the joint concention. I know A. H. Horton, who was at Topeka aring the canvass in the interests of Pomeroy. Horon testified before the Topeka committee that he was see of Pomeroy 's condential advisers.

By Mr. Horton-Horton used no improper argument favor of Pomeroy in his interviews with me. I do not know of my own knowledge that Horton or Pomery used or offered any money in the canvass. Rograches to the only man who has testified before the fopeka committee that Horton offered money for votes fork is the only one who so testified in relation to comercy.

By Mr. Simpson-Neither Bond nor Bacon was ex-mined by that committee. David L. Paine testified that he was in Topeks uring the canvass, and told O' Driscoll that he luring the canvass, and told O'Driscoil that he hould have $1.00 for his vote, but was not authorized by Pomercy to make the offer.

outld have $1.000 for his vote, but was not authorized by Pomercy to make the offer.

POMERCY'S DEFENCE.

There being no other witnesses for the prosecution present, Mr. Horton opened the case for the defence. C. J. Hanks was first sworn and txamined by Mr. Horton.

I have known W. H. Bond four or five years. On the vening before the national election I sent a telegram to a telegram to a single sasistance for Bond. I did so at Bond's request. Never got Eduor any other sum from Pomercy for Harry Field's expectses. George C. Crowther, Secretary of the State Senste, said to me on the morning of the Convention that Pomercy would be defeated, and yold me to make some bets if I wanted to make some money. He said he had about $1,000, and would let me have money to bet with. He said we have a job put up on "Old Pom," and it's going to win.

By Mr. Simpson—The despatch mentioned was sent to Major Crowell, Special Mail Agent for Kansas. I think the despatch read, "Assist Mr. Bond; he is a friend of ours." Bond saked me to send the despatch. The object was to get money for Bond to use in the slection. I don't know that Bond was making his cantrass as an anti-Pomercy man. The question of the election of United States Senator was not at issue in the leaven worth. It was a general understanding among form Mr. Taurman—i tried to get bets against Pomercy. I did not tell any one before the Convention that "Old Pom" would be defeated. Bond told me that he minded to vote for Pomercy as soon as Dr. Logan was out of the field. I was at Topeka working for Fomercy with the other canvass, and do not know of the use of a dollar by Fomercy or his friends for the purchase of the defeated Bond, I think, $50. I don't remember waying by votes.

By Mr. Simpson-About the time of Bond's election I turnished Bond, I think, 250. I don't remember saying anything about money for Fields. I never offered Bond 1800 or any other sum. I am not sure that I know anything of an interview between Horton and Bond. I cnow that Horton left me to see Bond and others; but am not sure whether I saw him with Bond or not.

Asa Low sworn and examined by Mr. Horton Asa Low sworn and examined by Mr. Horton:

I know O'Driscoll. I did not inimate to him that 2000 would not break mei if he (O'Driscoll) would vote for Pomeroy. O'Driscoll said that if he voted for Pomeroy his constituents would go back on him, and that would ruin him. I said that if his constituents went back on him I would stand by him if it cost me a farm or a thousand or two thousand dollars, but gave no intimation that I would pay for his vote. I had no authority from Pomeroy or his friends to use money, as d had ao knowledge that any was used by them. In conversaion with Pomeroy I said that I thought some members wanted money. Pomeroy said he had rather not be sleeted than give one dollar for a vote.

By Mr. Simpson—Can't give the name of any member of the Legislature who said he was poor and had not made up his mind on the Senatorial question. His oblect in seeing O'Driscoll was to say that if his constituants went back on him he would stand by him, as he slaways had, if it took a farm or a thousand or two thouand dollars.

Mr. Simpson—Did you ever hold any public office through the favor of Mr. Pomeroy? A.—No, sir; I don't know that I did. I believe he turned me out when I was in [Laughter.]

TOO THIN.

J. O. P. Bowen, sworn and examined by Mr.

J. O. P. Bowen, aworn and examined by Mr. Horton:

I am a Democrat, and was at Topeka, with other atchisonians, working for Pomeroy. I made no office to O'Driscoll for his vote. I wanted to find out how he intended to vote, and intimated that I could get money for his vote. I did so for the purpose of finding out how he stood. I did not use money. I had no authority from Pomeroy or his friends to use money, and had to knowledge that money was used.

By Mr. Thurman-The offer of money was simply to find out whether O'Driscoll was increanary, and if I had found that he was I would have left him, knowing that there was no chance of getting his vote.

POM'S OFFICEHOLDERS GIVING HIM A CHARACTER.

Col. John A. Martin testified:
I occupied a room during the canvass. I do not know

Col. John A. Martin testilled:

I occupied a room during the canvass. I do not know if the use of money by Pomeroy or his friends. Pomeroy repeatedly assured me that he had not used and did not intend to use any money or other corrupt influences. By Mr. Simpson—I think Judge Horton and Messrs. Burpby, Houston, and Anthony were Pomeroy's most trusted and confidential advisers. Mr. Houston is United Mates Marshal. Horton United States District Attorsey, Anthony United States Collector, and Murpby was superintendent of Indian Afairs up to within three yoars. I am Postmaster at Atcaison.

George C. Anthony testified: I was appointed Collector by Johnson on the recommendation of Senator Ross. I am editor of the Kansas Furner. There are sight daily papers in the State, four of which opposed fomeroy's re-diction. A large majority of the Republican papers favored Pomeroy. I know John C. Murshy, who was the Liberal Republican candidate for the Legislature, and was defeated by Bond. I also know John J. Murphy. I don't know that he was it Topeks working for Pomeroy. I think he used to the American Canvass. I know nothing of the use of must have worked against Fomeroy if he was at Topers worked for the feet and the proper worked against Fomeroy in the States and the proper worked for the feet and the prope

A GIR!, for general housework, at 245 Weat 17th st., is during the carrass. I know nothing of the use of nearly as to be use.

BLOWING POMERGY'S HORN.

Daniel Horne testified; I know Billings, whom Mr. Fork mentomed in his testimony. He said when he reached Topeka that he was for Pomercy. He was always counted a positive Pomercy man. I was in confidential relations with Pomercy. I knew nothing of he use of money. Pomercy said he would rather not se rediceled that to use money for securing votes. All sugainst Koerbacher were Pomercy said. What I save said is God's truth, and nothing but the truth." He said that he knew men who had Pomercy's money jurning in their pockets, and could name them at the purpose and object of the exposure would be defeated. By Mr. Simpson—I had no conversation with Mr. Fowmer about Stratton's vote. I did not say I would put $50 in Towner's hands to be given to Stratton after he had voted for Pom:roy. I did not say I would put $50 in Towner's hands to be given to Stratton after had voted for Pom:roy. I did not say I would put $50 in Towner's hands to be given to Stratton after had voted for Pom:roy. I did not treating any money consideration for Stratton's vote. Guerin pooks after York said down. I can't remember anything about what york said, and cannot remember saything about what york said A — Well, I don't know. I was very much york's address the chamber was very still, but there was confusion after he said down, and I did not pay some of the power of Senatorial candidates and the number of Senat any way." and he was bound to defeat him by any means, cost what it might.'

When cross-examined by Mr. Simpson, witness got somewhat mixed up as to the first name called in joint convention. He said he had not made a statement that York was connected with a gang of horse thieves in Southern Kansas. He told a reporter in St. Louis that it was said that York had been guilty of stealing cattle, but that he did not believe it.

Mr. Sharp testified: I had a conversation with B. F. Simpson immediately after the election. Slinpson remarked that they had beaten the old man. That they had to do as they had done, because it was the only way that he could have been beaten. Simpson stated that himself, Kildridge, and Senator Johnson originated the plot. Simpson said something about his own chances of being sent to the Senate to fill a vacancy. I said I would not go into any other Senatorial fight until 1 got at the bottom of this. Simpson said that himself, Eldridge, and Senator Johnson, determined to set a trap for Fomeroy so as to beat him. They sent for Horton and he suggested the plan. Bacon said he had just the would want money. He said that they would have to rely upon Eldridge for the means for carrying out the scheme if York failed.

The witness was cross-examined concerning THE PLOT AGAINST POMBROY.

The witness was cross-examined concerning his conversation with Simpson, and repeated his statements substantially. He finally said he was mistaken as to the date of the interview; it was on the day on which Mr. Pomeroy left for Washington. He was sure she had given the substance of what Simpson said. POMEROY REWARDING A FRIEND.

W. R. Laughlin testified: I was elected delegate by the settiers on Cherokee neutral lands. I sometimes represent 25,000 or 30,000 people. After the Senatorial election Pomeroy paid me $50 toward defraying my expenses. This was on the lith of February. I don't remomber that he said he had promised my friends in Kansas that he would contribute prior to the election. I wrote to Simpson, stating my condition, and expected to get $200 or $500 from hum.

expected to get $200 or $300 from him.

There being no other witnesses present whom the defence desired to examine at that time, Mr. Horton rested his case. Mr. Simpson was in the same situation, and the investigation was therefore adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow, Mr. Frelinghuysen saying that the committee was unanimously of the opinion that the evidence should then close, and that counsel on either side might submit written arguments not later than Thursday morning.

During the investigation Mr. Simpson submit-ted the following telegrams to the committee, and they were laid aside until such time as they should become germane to the investigation:

SHELBINA, Mo., Feb. 21.

To A. M. York.

Pomeror's agent has offered bribes here for evidence against you.

To this despatch Mr. York replied: "Who have been offered bribes? I want them as witnesse."

Shafer replied: "I have been offered $1.500."

Mr. Shafer was summoned imm. liately.

CAGED IN AN ICEBERG.

The Sufferings of the Prisoners in the Tombs on an Artic Winter Day-Stokes. Foster, and Rosenzweig-Also, Mr. Train.

The Arctic cold of yesterday told heavily pon the prisoners in the Tombs, more especialtheir these confined in the west side. In the ower corridors are large stoves whose pipes extend through the building, but these do not af-ford sufficient heat to keep the inmates of that part of the prison from shivering. In the lower corridor, just north of the row of cells kept for the condemned prisoners, is a large stove around which were gathered a score or more of around which were gathered a score or more of miserable men and boys, some of them but poorly clad, and all hugging the stove with their hands extended to catch the welcome had.

In the condemned ward is another large stove, nearly in front of cell 4, until recently occupied by Stokes. Foster occupies the second cell from the stove, and is thus afforded more comfort than almost any other prisoner in the Tombs.

In the upper corridors the prisoners suffered soverely. The future dictator, George Francis Train, who occupies cell 59, on the second corridor, possessed his soul in patience, and wrapped his sturdy frame in blankets. Rosenzweig, in whom Mr. Train takes deep interest (see his card in The Sun of yesterday, in which he predicts the death of the prisoner in sixty days unless he gets more exercise also has a cell on the second tier, close to that of Mr. Train's. He complained bitterly of the cold.

Warden Johnson says that Rosenzweig can have all the exercise is not allowed him, but that he does not take it.

Stokes, who was remanded to cell 73, on the second tier, last Friday, was visited by his father and brother. He was enveloped in many wrappings, and more fortunate than the poorer prisoners, suffered but little from the cold. His cell is furnished much as it was before his condemnation.

Foster was visited only by his, wife. Last Satis furnished much as it was before his condemnation.

Poster was visited only by his wife. Last Saturday five members of the Legislature, who visited the Tombs to see Warden Johnson, were introduced to Foster. Prior to this visit these gentlemen had been persuaded by Foster's friends to intercede with Gov. Dix for a commutation of his sentence. They told Foster that the Governor had held out but little encouragement. After the interview they said that Foster had been represented to them as a ruffian, but that now, having seen him, the unfavorable impression formed on those representations had been overturned. They assured Warden Johnson that on their return to Albany they would interest themselves personally in Foster's behalf.

Warden Johnson is initiating a long-needed reform in the management of the city prisons. Cleanliness, under his rule, is made a cardinal virtue, and the employees of the prison, from the surgeons down to the lowest subordinates, are made to attend to their duties faithfully. He is its the district prisons every morning before going to the Tombs, and at the latter prison
